

The Concrete Industry Board

The Concrete Industry Board of New York is a non-profit organization founded in 1951 to bring together all sectors of the concrete industry for the purpose of improving quality from design through construction. The CIB's goals are:

- To foster the development of quality concrete through technical education

- To assist the transformation of good design into good concrete structures.

- To distribute pertinent information provided by the ACI, CRSI, ASTM, and other organizations relative to design criteria, materials, testing procedures and construction practices together with regulations which will foster plain and reinforced concrete of the highest quality.

- To correlate all segments of the industry.

Organization

The CIB is governed by a Board of Directors composed of the President, President-elect, Vice Presidents, Secretary, Treasurer, and the immediate Past President, as well as representatives of the major sectors of the industry. They include:

American Institute of Architects-New York Chapter
American Society of Civil Engineers-Metro Section
Association of New York City Concrete Producers
Cement League
Concrete Admixtures
Concrete Reinforcing Steel Institute
Labor representing the Building Trades
Material Suppliers
New York Association of Consulting Engineers
Portland Cement Association
Prestressed and Precast Concrete Industries
SEAoNY
Government Agencies
National Ready Mix Concrete Association
Special Inspection & Inspection Agencies

Membership

The CIB is composed of professional firms, corporations and organizations concerned with the construction, design, teaching, testing, production, and materials supply of plain or reinforced concrete, precast prestressed, or cast-in-place or its component parts including aggregates, cement, admixtures, reinforcing steel, bar supports and wire mesh.

All members of the CIB pledge that they will perform quality concrete work and comply with all the requirements of codes, plans, and specifications.

Activities

The following programs support the CIB's goal of quality concrete.

- A program of regular luncheons, and educational seminars addressing topical aspects of design and construction and brings members and non-members up to date on current and projected industry activities.

- The CIB conducts on a regular basis several ACI classes for the five boroughs and Westchester County. The CIB was instrumental in making ACI Certification an agency code requirement.

- An Awards Dinner is held in November each year to honor completed structures which represent excellence in concrete in their architectural and, engineering design, general construction and workmanship.

- The CIB's Technical Committees include standing committees and those organized to meet a particular need. Over the years the committees have earned a reputation for their contributions toward building code revisions, rules and regulations to supplement code requirements, and the preparation of manuals to set forth recommended practices. As an organization, CIB has been able to call on a pool of professionals to serve on its various committees.

Services to Members

CIB's most important service to its members is the opportunity which it provides to participate with others in the industry toward improving the quality of concrete. Increased visibility within the concrete industry and an enhanced market profile often follow.

Technical Service is provided to assist members on questions relating to concrete. This service provides a concrete reference library which is available for the use of members. CIB's reputation as a concrete center prompts many requests for concrete information from the media and general public which are serviced within staff limitations.

The Concrete Industry Board Bulletin, a quarterly publication, enjoys a national reputation. Its articles are frequently quoted in other local and national publications.
